

CASES IN SUPERIOR COURT

Judge Shumway Takes Papers in Suit Over Stones and Dirt Dumped on Land—$15,000 Alienation Suit Brought by Mystic Man Begun—Tinker Injunction Suit Postponed.

The case of Attorney Charles Chadwick of Old Lyme against M. A. Cavanaugh, Thomas McCaffrey and M. J. McGarry, doing business under the firm name of Cavanaugh, McCaffrey & Co., for $3,000 damages to property alleged to have been caused by dumping gravel, stones and other debris, was finished in the superior court in New London Wednesday afternoon. The case was started Tuesday.

For the defense Lewis Bingham was the first witness on Wednesday. He testified to having been in the employ of Contractor Dennis Blakelee during the construction of the state highway from the Connecticut river bridge to the end of Lyme street three years ago. At that time he had dumped quantities of stone on the Chadwick property and this is the same stone that is there now. He was also employed by the defendants in the spring of 1913 when the stone is alleged to have been dumped on the property and that he did not go on the property at that time.

He was followed by John M. Hunt, Eugene D. Caulkins, Edwin O. Maynard, Robert H. Appleby, William F. Clarke and George Griswold, whose testimony was directed to the fact that the property had not been damaged by the stones. George K. Crandall, civil engineer of New London, testified that $30 would pay for any damage that may have been done.

The defense rested at 12:35 when Attorney John C. Geary for the plaintiff made the opening argument, which occupied the time until recess at 1 o'clock. In the afternoon when court came in at 2 o'clock Attorney Charles E. Whittlessey made the second argument and Attorney Geary closed. At the conclusion of the arguments Judge Shumway took the papers.

$15,000 Alienation Case.
The next trial started was in the suit of Leonard A. Clift of Mystic vs. Latham Hull, formerly of North Stonington, but more recently of this city. The plaintiff sues to recover $15,000 damages from the defendant, who, he claims, has alienated the affections of his wife, Mrs. Claude V. B. Clift of Norwich.

The complaint alleged that Mr. and Mrs. Clift were intermarried June 3, 1903, and that they lived together until July, 1913. Clift claims that at various times between Oct. 1, 1912, and Aug. 1, 1913, Hull seduced his wife, Claude V. B. Clift; that Aug. 1, 1913 he enticed his wife to Norwich, where he harbored her until May 1, 1914.

Last April Clift was granted a divorce in the superior court from his wife on the grounds of adultery. He alleges that in consequence of Hull's actions he has lost the affections of his wife, been deprived of her company, society and assistance and that he had suffered great distress of mind and body.

Clift was the first witness on the stand. He testified to learning of his wife's intimacy with Hull, who was in the habit of going to his house during his absence from home while on the road as a traveling salesman. He remonstrated with his wife, but she taunted him about it. He finally ordered her not to have Hull come to the house again and he was greeted with the remark that she could meet him elsewhere.

During the latter part of July, 1913, he overheard his wife making an appointment with Hull for the following Monday night and he went to the place of the clandestine meeting, which was in a back lot. There he found Mrs. Clift and Hull in a compromising position. He was accompanied at the time by an acquaintance by the name of McDonough.

Beside himself with rage, he sprang at the two, but was held by McDonough. He charged his wife with her perjury and she inquired what he was going to do about it, while Hull told him "that he was a gentleman, in reply to which Clift called him a "homebreaker."

He returned to his home that night and his wife came home about an hour later. He had not lived with his wife since that night.

James McDonough corroborated the testimony of the plaintiff as to the occurrences when Hull and Mrs. Clift were found together.

Patrick Sullivan of this city, a farm laborer, of Norwich, testified to his knowledge of Hull and Mrs. Clift living together on the Tyler farm at East Great Plain.

Attorneys Gray of Bridgeport and Connell of New London represented the plaintiff. Attorneys H. W. Rathbun and C. W. Comstock conducted the case for the defendant and severely cross-examined the witnesses, particularly McDonough.

When court adjourned the case went over to next Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, as the regularly assigned matters are to be taken up this morning.

Tinker Injunction Case Went Over.
The case of ex-Mayor George F. Tinker against the city of New London for a permanent injunction restraining the city from paying the expenses of delegates to the Atlantic Deep-sea Waterways convention in Jacksonville, Fla., last year, which was scheduled for a hearing in the superior court Wednesday morning, went off for reassignment. The postponement was made necessary because of the illness of Corporation Counsel William T. Connor, representing the city.

When court came in, Attorney Abel P. Tamm, counsel for ex-Mayor Tinker, informed the court that he had received a communication from Corporation Counsel Connor house Wednesday morning saying that he was ill and unable to appear in court. Attorney Tanner suggested that the matter be postponed until later in the present session, but objected to the hearing being postponed outside of this session.

Judge Shumway stated that the matter must be disposed of at the present term and that if Corporation Counsel Connor was unable to be present when the case came on again, he would have to send someone to represent him.

The case was not assigned definitely for Wednesday morning, but it is probable that it may be reached Thursday. If not Thursday the case may be assigned for next week.

AT THE AUDITORIUM.

Whiteside-Strauss Co.

At the Auditorium on Wednesday good sized audiences witnessed both afternoon and evening performances at which The Sins of Society, another of the latest New York successes, was staged by the Whiteside-Strauss company. The play was presented in four acts and there were ten people in the cast. Rubia De Ferras as Clara and Bessie Mae as Anna De Ferras carried out their parts exceptionally well. Ralph Menzies was seen in the part of Henry Warner and Jack Whitman took the part of the feature picture. The scene of the production, which is an up-to-date play, was laid on Long Island and in New York city.

High class vaudeville between the acts filled all the dull moments. The movie programme consisted of The Redemption, a strong two reel imp film, which was the feature picture and The "Dear" Hunter, a comedy Nestor reel. Tonight there is to be a tango dancing contest for which cash prizes are offered.

SAVE YOUR HAIR! IF FALLING OUT OR DANDRUFF--25 CENT DANDERINE

LADIES! MEN! HERE'S THE QUICKEST, SUREST DANDRUFF CURE KNOWN.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp: of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—anytime—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance: an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.
